STRATHAM OBSERVES OLD HOME DAY

Have A Flag Raising And Exercises At Stratham Hill Park

The town of Stratham on Wednesday observed the Old Home Week celebration with a flag raising and exercises at Stratham Hill Park. There was a large attendance including many from this city and the usual number of returning sons and daughters.

The exercises opened with the presentation of a large flag to the town by G. Ralph Laighton to be used on the big flag pole that has been raised on the top of the hill; the pole was the gift of Mrs. J. B. Wiggins of Stratham.

The flag was accepted by Chairman of the Board of Selection Leslie Dinning, and he in turn passed it over to the care of the Grand Army post in that town, and the flag was run to the top of the pole under the direction of the veterans with H. J. Wiley in command. As it was mast headed Col. Richard Scammon led the assembly in three rousing cheers.

The exercises were held in the pavilion and were presided over by President Isaac M. Wiggin and after the opening prayer by Rev. Bernard Copping, Representative John E. Emery gave the address of welcome. A selection by the band followed and the address of the day was delivered by Rev. Franklin J. Babbs of Laconia.

The exercises were followed by a baseball game between the Stratham and Epping baseball teams, in which the former won by a score of 14 to 1.

The athletic sports resulted as follows: 100 yard dash, J. M. C. Cavanaugh of Manchester, first; E. R. Stockbridge of Stratham, second; throwing baseball, Russell Sheehy of Newfields, first, 285 feet, 7 inches; George Jewell of Stratham, second; running high jump, C. Gowen of Stratham, first; Russell Sheehy of Newfields, second; running broad jump, E. R. Stockbridge of Stratham, first; J. M. C. Cavanaugh of Manchester, second.

The festivities were brought to a close with a dance in the town hall.

STEAMBOAT MERRICONEAG

Boat Returns From Portland to the Route to the Isles of Shoals

The steamer Merriconeag arrived this morning from Portland and will finish the season on the Isles of Shoals route. The Forest Queen, which was sent east for repairs last week, was found to need such an overhauling that she will not be ready for service again this summer. The Alice Howard, which has been substituting for the past week, resumed her regular trips between this city and Kittery today.

The Merriconeag is a newer boat than the Forest Queen and is thoroughly up-to-date in all of her arrangements and equipment. She belongs to the Casco Bay and Harpswell Navigation Company's fleet and is considered one of the best and fastest boats of that line.

She has been on the Isles of Shoals route at previous times as a substitute boat and her return is pleasing to the patrons of that line.

A great day for the big firemen's muster at Lowell.

GREENLEAF IS IN A RECEPTIVE MOOD

Gubernatorial Nomination Would be Acceptable

Franconia Hotel Man States His Position in an Open Letter

Possibility of a Fourth Candidate Before the Republican State Convention

The position of Col. Charles H. Greenleaf of Franconia, with reference to the Republican gubernatorial nomination, is stated in the following correspondence, which has just been made public:

The Question
The Wentworth,
New Castle Aug. 14, 1908.
Col. Charles H. Greenleaf,

Profile House, Franconia, N. H.
My Dear Greenleaf:—I have been frequently asked what your position is in regard to the governorship. You had so large a vote in the convention two years ago that it would seem proper that you should state your views as to the present contest.

Truly yours,

W. K. HILL.

The Answer

— Franconia, N. H., Aug. 19, 1908.
W. K. Hill, Esq.—

The Wentworth, New Castle, N. H.

My Dear Mr. Hill: In reply to your letter of Aug. 14, I will say:

Since the convention to nominate a governor two years ago, I have confined myself, so far as politics are concerned, strictly to the position of a faithful member of the party. It is true I was a candidate before that convention for the nomination for governor. As a candidate I did what I thought I might properly do in an honorable and dignified manner to secure a favorable result. When the decision was made adversely to me I cheerfully accepted the result, did what I could to secure the success of the Republican party at the polls, and made no complaint. It was my duty to acquiesce in the will of the people as manifested in the convention, and I have not felt called upon, up to this time, to make any public statement.

I have been assured of support if I would make a strenuous campaign for the nomination this year. But the time is past, I believe, when a few men can take from the people their right to choose for themselves candidates for the various state offices, and I will not seek the nomination through influences that may gain the position without the honor. I wish to thank my friends who stood by me in the former campaign, and especially those who have thought me worthy of support this year, and to add, that as much has been said about logical candidates—if there is such a candidate the balloting in the last convention might seem to point to me. But I make no claim to that distinction. The office is open to all, and the whole people should decide who the man shall be to whom they desire to give the distinguished honor. It is right that the people of New Hampshire should select their candidate in convention, through their own delegates, freely chosen by themselves.

In doing this I want to reply, as I could not properly do after the convention, to some attacks which were made upon me. They were severe, continuous and unending. It was urged as a reason why I should not have the office that I was in the hotel business. The fact cannot be denied, and I am proud to say that for fifty years I have done all I could to make the summer hotel business in New Hampshire a credit and a benefit to our state. Allow me to say that I doubt if there is a man in the whole state who has given as long service, or who has contributed more, with the means at his command, to build up and maintain at a high standard a business which has added so much in developing the resources of the state. I cannot see how my conduct in this respect is open to criticism. I have nothing to apologize for.

It has been suggested that I write a letter withdrawing my name as a candidate for the office of governor in 1908. As I could not see that I had done any wrong in the attempt to secure the nomination in 1906 and being free born, and a citizen of no mean country, I decided not to sell my birthright.

I have been assured of support if I would make a strenuous campaign for the nomination this year. But the time is past, I believe, when a few men can take from the people their right to choose for themselves candidates for the various state offices, and I will not seek the nomination through influences that may gain the position without the honor. I wish to thank my friends who stood by me in the former campaign, and especially those who have thought me worthy of support this year, and to add, that as much has been said about logical candidates—if there is such a candidate the balloting in the last convention might seem to point to me. But I make no claim to that distinction. The office is open to all, and the whole people should decide who the man shall be to whom they desire to give the distinguished honor. It is right that the people of New Hampshire should select their candidate in convention, through their own delegates, freely chosen by themselves.

Sincerely yours,
C. H. GREENLEAF.

THEY HAVE A CLEAR FIELD

The removal of trees on Pleasant street in front of the Exchange Block brings joy to the veteran firemen if to no one else. It will be remembered that the limbs of those trees caused many arguments among the red shirts in the several contests between the Franklin Pierce and Free W. Now they have a clear way and it is hoped that they will come out once more in battle under the improved conditions.

YORK BEACH DEFEATS SOMERSWORTH

In A Good Game At Beach ... Home Team Have Everything Own Way

York Beach handed Somersworth a whole bunch of lemons yesterday afternoon when the two teams met for the third game at the Beach field. A red hot game was expected but the crowd was disappointed happily, however as the home team was all the candy. The old favorite "Sal" Hazelton was the leave artist for York and he certainly had everything. But five scattered hits were made off his delivery and eight fanned wildly at his curves and shorts.

Besides this the support was excellent, the boys taking everything that happened and the work with the stick was something to talk about. Mr. "Win" Adams who has pitched some grand ball this summer for the visitors did the pitching and the boys got acquainted with his style from the start and got ten hits. These coupled with a few heavy by his team mates netted eleven big runs as against two allowed the boys from the Granite State. Richardson made the longest hit ever seen on the grounds, sending Stearns in ahead of him. The management announces that the ball has been found in fair condition.

Somersworth started off well. McGarry driving for two bases. He took third and came home when Berry dropped the ball. Berry being out Shannon to Stearns.

York also did things. After Laddie had popped a foul to Hatch, Frank Shannon singled to centre, Hurley fanned but Stearns and Driscoll walked. Richardson then pushed out a two rocker scoring Shannon and "Mike", and Hazelton's scratch hit routed Driscoll. Merrill ended the finding by grounding to Manix.

The locals got two more runs in the third. Hurley led off with a single. Stearns tried to sacrifice but the ball went in the air. Tim started back to first. Adams dropped the fly but Hatch threw Hurley out at second. Stearns being safe. Then came Richardson's homer putting the game on ice.

The visitors got their second run in the fifth section. After Boardman had gone by to Shannon to Stearns, Hatch and Laddie singled. Adams was hit. With the bases full McGarry bunted but Hatch was caught at the plate. Manix left to Hurley who threw a little high letting Laddie in. Berry was out on strikes.

Three singles, a sacrifice and two errors gave the totals four more to the sixth section. Again in the eighth two miffs, a wild throw and a one rocker brought in the tenth and eleventh runs.

The features were the hitting of Richardson, Hazelton's pitching and

For Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

If you suffer from Indigestion or Dyspepsia; if you are annoyed with gas on the stomach, fulness after eating, belching, sour stomach, heartburn, etc.,

Go to your druggist, get a dollar bottle of Kodol, and if you can honestly say that you did not receive any benefit from it after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay and we will pay the druggist the price of the first bottle purchased by you.

If you knew as well as we do how good a preparation Kodol is it would be unnecessary for us to guarantee a single bottle.

But to get you to know how good it is as well as we know, we practically will purchase the first bottle for you.

You wonder, perhaps, how we can afford to make such an offer.

It is because we have absolute confidence in the honesty and fairness of the public.

We know there are thousands of persons who suffer from indigestion and dyspepsia who would be grateful to us for putting them in touch with Kodol.

That is why.

Furthermore, we know that after you have used Kodol your faith in the preparation will be equal to ours.

This proposition we make is not altogether unselfish, but it is actuated by the knowledge that the use of Kodol by you will benefit you as well as ourselves.

Now could we afford to make such an offer to the public, and how could we afford to spend thousands of dollars to tell you about it unless we positively knew and were sure of the merits of Kodol.

We couldn't—it would bankrupt us.

But we know the merits of Kodol and we want you to know.

A perfect digester must contain many ingredients, each in proper proportion.

It must be a liquid, because all those ingredients cannot be put into dry form.

It must be able to digest any food, or any mixture of foods, and completely.

Kodol does that, even in a glass test tube.

No other digester can.

Kodol alone does all of the work. It stops all irritation, and gives the stomach complete rest. It has taken us years to get a perfect digester, but we certainly have it now.

Please try it today at our risk.

It means more than relief. It means that the stomach will do its own work far sooner than you'll expect.

Kodol digests all the food you eat.

Eat what you need and let Kodol digest it.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 5¢ bottle.

A KNIGHT FOR A DAY

Tonight at Music Hall a musical comedy, with a remarkable record for success elsewhere, will be presented, the great Tremont Theatre success, "A Knight for a Day."

Report avers that the production is unusually rich in material that makes for laughs. Beautiful effects in several of its pageants is another reported quality, said to go beyond the common range of the picture-episode in similar diversions.

The score, too, is accredited with an unusual number of popular hits.

The story is not what the title might suggest. It has nothing of the mediæval. Contrariwise, the comical interest is very much of today.

Briefly, it relates the misadventures of a little, nimble-witted restaurant waiter and a dull-minded, awkward "servant lady." The enmeshment of this pair involves a real "knight," but of the modern frock coat kind. A girls' school at Evanston, Illinois, on Commencement day, sees the little waiter appear, posing as the knight, the real person having been attacked by the waiter, and, failing to tip the waiter, the waiter gets himself to the knight's papers, and from this his inspiration to become a "blue blood" on his own account. But more in incident and episode growing out of this maladroit is the fabric of the story's fun composed.

Robert B. Smith, who wrote "Fantana," furnished the libretto, and Raymond Hubbell, the composer of the "Fantana" music, furnished the score.

HOLLAND TO MOVE

The Patience of the Dutch at End With Castro and Venezuela

The Hague, Aug. 20.—After a nine-hour session, during which the dispute between the Netherlands and Venezuela was canvassed exhaustively in all its phases, the entangled dispute and the minister of foreign affairs, J. R. D. M. Van Swindelen, proceeded to the royal chateau at Het Loo to acquaint Queen Wilhelmina with the result of the council.

The terms of the Netherlands are answer to the letter of President Castro of Venezuela were fully discussed, and it is understood that the actual text, as well as broad lines of action drawn up to meet any possible emergencies, were agreed upon.

The view entertained in diplomatic circles here is that the present difficulty between Holland and Venezuela is not of a nature to be settled by arbitration, and it is explained that the dispute is not of a private commercial character like the difficulties that have arisen between Venezuela and Great Britain, Germany and America. In these cases the governments in

PRECISION OF ARTILLERY FIRE.

Exact Science Employed in Methods of Modern Gunners.

How do we hit with mortars? An observer near the shore who sees the target communicates the horizontal and vertical angle at which to lay the mortar and the instant of time in which to fire, and the gun does the rest.

If you were standing at the center of a large clock dial laid flat on the ground, and wanted to hit with a baseball a man walking around on the outside, you would notice how long it took the man to get from I to II, and again from II to III; then you would decide whether, if the ball were thrown over a point half way between IV and V just as he arrived opposite IV, the man and the ball would reach the same spot at the same time—it being understood, of course, that he maintained uniform speed and direction and that the ball was thrown with proper force.

Instruments give us the range and observations, and mechanical devices give us the range differences, increasing or decreasing by certain short intervals of time, too short for a ship of any size to escape by attempting to change direction or speed. Our observer's circle has 36,000 divisions—Capt. Howell, in Scientific American.

FINE WORDS BRING PLAUDITS.

Simplicity of Style Generally Appreciated by Readers.

The girl graduate, flushed and smiling, seated herself beside her father in the automobile and patted the pale blue bow of ribbon on her essay.

"Did you like my essay, father?"

"Your commencement essay upon 'Life's Higher Calls,'" he said, "seemed to me to be too too—too. But listen. Here is an autograph letter of John Ruskin's that I bought this morning for $17. Maybe, if you had read this letter before writing your essay it would have been better."

Then the father read the letter aloud, while the young girl listened with a scornful and sour air.

"I was obliged to write too young, when I knew only half truths, and was eager to set them forth by what I thought fine words. People used to call me a good writer then; now they say I can't write at all, because, for instance, if I think anybody's house is on fire I only say, 'Sir your house is on fire' where formerly I used to say, 'Sir, the abode in which you probably passed the delightful days of youth is in a state of inflammation,' and everybody used to like the effect of the two p's in 'probably passed,' and the two d's in 'delightful days.'"

VERDICT IN ANNIS SHOOTING.

Coroner's Jury Finds What Was Already Known.

HAINS FIRED NINE SHOTS.

Bullets Pumped Into Victim's Body While Brother Held Would-Be Rescuers at Bay--Counsel For Hains Brothers Says Their Minds Are Unbalanced--Major Hains Declares Shooting Was Justified.

New York, Aug. 20.—After being out twenty-two minutes, a coroner's jury last night brought in a verdict that William F. Annis, who was killed last Saturday, came to his death as the result of pistol shot wounds inflicted by Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U. S. A., aided and abetted by Thornton J. Hains. There was a greater crowd than the little courtroom in the town hall at Flushing, L. I., could hold when the funeral began and hundreds of men and women awaited the verdict outside.

It was believed the jury would render its verdict without leaving the room, and when the jurors went out and remained out for more than twenty minutes, the spectators, many of whom were members of the Bay Side (L. I.) Yacht club, where the shooting took place, became restless and there were audible demands that a verdict be instantly rendered.

When the jurymen filed into the room and the foreman announced the verdict there was a demonstration. Coroner Ambler had to run with his gavel and court officers had to caution the spectators as an attempt was made to applaud the verdict.

In the excitement a crowd gathered around Thornton Hains and began to question him as to the tragedy in which he played such an important part. He was asked if he felt justified in holding a crowd at bay while revolver while his brother shot down Annis. Before Ambler could reply John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the brothers, rushed to his side. "No, no; don't answer that question," he said. In his efforts to prevent Hains from answering the lawyer clapped his hands over his client's mouth.

Only two witnesses were called. They were Charles H. Robert, who testified that he saw Captain Hains in a kneeling position clutching the drooping body of Annis as he emptied the contents of his revolver into it, and Coroner's Physician Frey, who testified that Annis came to his death as the result of the bullet wounds. Frey said there were nine bullet wounds and twelve secondary wounds, which would indicate that Hains fired three shots.

In cross examining Robert, McIntyre asked him if Hains had finished shooting when he tried to go to his aid and was stopped by Thornton Hains, who held a revolver in his face. The witness said that the shooting had not ceased and that he would have had time to interfere had not Thornton Hains prevented him.

That both Captain Hains and his brother, Thornton Hains, were suffering from some form of emotional insanity will probably be the defense offered in their approaching trial. McIntyre said in this point: "I believe that the brothers were in a state of mental disturbance when the shooting occurred."

Before the inquest John F. McIntyre gave out the following statement:

"In answer to the statement made by Mrs. Hains that she was made to sign her confession while under the influence of drugs, I wish to say that my clients and their distinguished father have told me that there were four witnesses present when the confession was made, one of them being a prominent New York lawyer. These witnesses will testify at the trial. I am also told that Mrs. Hains talked to several persons regarding the incidents related in the confession some time before she made it and these persons will be witnesses."

"When Captain Hains was called back from the Philippines he questioned his wife regarding rumors he had heard about her, and he became convinced that his suspicions were wrong. Later, he said, facts developed which made him demand the confession from his wife and she made it. What unbalanced Captain Hains' mind was the counter-chARGE made by Mrs. Hains in a suit she filed in answer to his suit for divorce. Captain Hains believed the statements made by Mrs. Hains in the counter-suit were dictated by Annis."

Major John P. Hains, who has come here from Chicago to stand by his brothers, was asked if he thought his brother was justified in shooting Annis without giving him a chance to protect himself. "Knowing what you do for the cause, would you do the same thing?" he was asked.

"I most certainly would," he answered emphatically.

SUFFERED GREAT HARDSHIPS.

Miss Peck and Her Little Party of Two Return From Huascarán.

Lima, Peru, Aug. 20.—After suffering terrible hardships, Miss Annie S. Peck of Providence, the mountain climber, returned yesterday from her trip up Mount Huascarán. She was given an enthusiastic reception, as it was feared that she had met with some accident, no word having been received from her since Friday afternoon, when she signaled her arrival at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

Miss Peck was accompanied by two Alpine climbers, and it was because of the sickness of one of these men that the party was prevented from reaching the summit of the peak.

On her first attempt she was barred from the top by immense crevasses, by snow and by the difficulty of her guides. They forsook her, declaring they could not stand the intense cold—25 degrees below zero. On this last journey Miss Peck took along several Eskimo suits.

Mount Huascarán is conceded to be one of the most dangerous of mountains in the Andes to climb, the perpetual snow at the top covering nearly a third of the great peak and it is wrinkled and scarred with gullies and crevasses, treacherous stretches of perpendicular walls, seemingly impassable glaciers and other pitfalls that stand out like sentinels along the way.

It was yet twenty miles outside of Sydney harbor, but this wood, which had been awaited eagerly by tens of thousands, stirred Australians like a call to arms, and almost instantly those who had not already left the city to take up points of vantage along the bays were moving in droves to the quays, the rooftops and other places on the harbor front, to watch the coming of the guardships of the New World.

The day broke bright and clear, and so intense was the interest in the American ships of war that half the populace remained awake the entire night, and thousands upon thousands of them, long before the night was over, were on their way to the hilltops outside the city limits, where they gazed seemingly in unbroken lines along the coast from Bondi beach to Manly.

It is estimated that hardly less than half a million people assembled to give the visitors a royal welcome. Sydney harbor, with its immemorial bays, coves and beaches, never looked more beautiful, nor did the American sailors ever witness a more inspiring sight than that which met their eyes as the white ships came through the channel past the great headlands into Port Jackson.

A hundred thousand people, the greatest single assembly of all, gathered on the South Head, where a magnificent view of the whole scene was to be had. Even at that early hour, all the waters, with the exception of the fairway and the anchorages, were dotted with little and big vessels decorated in every conceivable manner with flags and bunting.

The fleet left Auckland at 8:15 Saturday morning and, with the exception of one day, had fair weather all the way to Sydney. On Tuesday the warships encountered heavy winds which threw up a stiff head sea, greatly retarding their progress. Throughout Tuesday night the high seas caused the larger of the ships to roll at least twenty degrees, while the auxiliaries suffered even more severely.

There was considerable discomfort for all the men and the intervals between the vessels were increased to 600 yards. The formation, however, was not changed. No evolutions were indulged in on account of the heavy weather during this period, but this ended the following day, when the ships were about 100 miles from port.

Speed was then increased to twelve knots and, although the hospital ship Boletto was left behind, the others reached the coast on schedule time, the Americans as anxious as the Australians to participate in the receptions and fetes which the latter have prepared for them.

In perfect alignment, the flagship Connecticut leading, with Rear Admiral Sperry on the bridge, the warships appeared. Passing in through the Sydney heads in double column, at intervals of 400 yards, the ships headed to have a world of speed and power under their glistening sides. The fleet was attended by convoy steamers and was greeted with a roar of salutes from the forts as it steamed slowly along.

The thousands ashore and aboard added their cheers to swell the noisy welcome and countless British and American flags were flying to the breeze and still were waving long after the anchors had been swung from the sides. The American ships hoisted forth a salute to the port, and as soon as they were safely moored at their anchorage official visits were exchanged.

GIVEN A ROYAL WELCOME.

Half the Population Remained Awake All Night So as to Be on Hand to Give an Early Morning Greeting--One Day of Heavy Weather and Much Discomfort on the Fleet's Journey From Auckland.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 20.—Early this morning a thin veil of smoke on the horizon signalled to the watchers on the coast the approach of the American warships, and at 5:35 official notification was sent out that the fleet had been sighted.

It was yet twenty miles outside of Sydney harbor, but this wood, which had been awaited eagerly by tens of thousands, stirred Australians like a call to arms, and almost instantly those who had not already left the city to take up points of vantage along the bays were moving in droves to the quays, the rooftops and other places on the harbor front, to watch the coming of the guardships of the New World.

LYNCHINGS ARE TOO NUMEROUS.

TWO REMEDIES ARE SUGGESTED

by Booker Washington.

New York, Aug. 20.—The World today prints a signed statement from Booker T. Washington in which he says:

"Within the past sixty days twenty negroes have been lynched in different parts of the United States. Of this number only four of the twenty-five were even charged with criminal assault upon women. How long can one Christian civilization stand this? I am making no special plea for the negro, innocent or guilty, but I am calling attention to the danger that threatens our civilization.

OUR CANDIDATES: FOR PRESIDENTWILLIAM H. TAFT
of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT

James S. Sherman of New York.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1908

THE BLUE OF THE PEOPLE

"Shall the people rule?" asked the Democratic candidate for president. The question was put forth as the slogan for this campaign.

Probably Mr. Bryan was not prepared for an acceptance of that bold demagogic challenge, but Mr. Sherman, the Republican nominee for vice president, has answered him back with the open statement:

"The people do rule."

It is true that the people do not always attend to their business of ruling, but they do pay considerable attention to that job.

Was it the people or somebody else who elected William McKinley in 1896?

That was the year, you remember, that the Nebraska statesman's panacea was the free coinage of silver. Was it the people or was it somebody else who voted in November that, as McKinley had remarked, it would be better to open the mills than the mines?

Was it the people or somebody else who reelected McKinley in 1900?

McKinley, you remember, was the President who had used his authority and influence to procure the annexation of Porto Rico and of the Philippines. Mr. Bryan also used his influence to that same end and the Senate's acceptance of the annexation treaty was procured by his efforts.

Was it the people or somebody else who listened to Bryan's hypocritical explanation of his acts, and then rejected him on the imperialism issue the same as they had previously done on other issues?

Mr. Bryan's career offers other opportunities for similar questions, but these will do for a starter.

To come nearer home, is it the people or somebody else who will make Col. Henry B. Quinby of Lancaster the next governor of New Hampshire?

OUR EXCHANGES

When Haines Killed Annie

This latest instance of private slaying has all the elements of a carefully planned crime. The scene and the hour are deliberately chosen with an eye to the melodramatic effect. The brothers act as though they have rehearsed every move. They play the heroes of "family avengers" to the limit of the possibilities. They deliberately bid for public sympathy on the score of the "unwritten law." And now they plan their defense and proclaim their exception of aquittal.

It is all revolting to the law sense of the citizen who believes in government, in order, in system. It causes him to look anxiously toward the courts in hope of seeing the statutes vindicated and the growing spirit of private vengeance checked through the administration of the severest penalties, for if the results fail thus to vindicate their own existence and to maintain the dignity and the power of the law no man can foretell the extent to which the impulse of barbarism will carry.—Washington Star.

As Seen In The Inland Metropolis

A big navy does not necessarily make for a spirit of aggression. We want no more territorial conquests; the people are half sorry for the expansion that has come. What we have we must protect. To be prepared to do it means ultimate familliation, a condition not to the liking of Americans.—Chicago Post.

Henry Watterson, chairman of the Bryan press bureau, appointed as the representative of Massachusetts on that body, Eugene M. Mortarty of Worcester. That's keeping in close touch with the Democracy in the Bay State. Editor Mortarty died about a year ago. If he was now living it would be doubtful about his giving the Peerless Young very ardent support.—Franklin Journal-Transcript

Fat Folks Buy Relief From Heat

It is gasping and strangling time for the fat folks. They most of them must put up with or if they rebel they take a few pennies over to their druggist's and buy some hot weather comfort—with amore becolding figure thrown in as prelude, so to speak. For a small sum your druggist will give you ½ ounce Maradol, 1 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3ounces Syrup Simplex. Take this at teaspoonful at a time after meals and at bedtime, and you will get quiet relief from heat misery.

Simple as this mixture is, it makes wonderful difference on the fat. Entirely without help of any kind from exercising or dieting it will take off, in many cases, over a pound of fat a day. Yet those who take it never feel any ill effect; no wrinkles form and there is no disturbance of the stomach. The remedy effects the fat only. One does not get thin and fat for it with weakness or dyspepsia by using this mixture. On the contrary, one's appetite and general wellbeing are improved by it. Try some if you want to get quickly and satisfactorily rid of your hot weather tribulations—with a trim slim figure thrown in as a premium, as it were.

The joke is on the Democratic district committee in the first Maine congressional district, comprising York and Cumberland counties.

It seems that this astute body conceived the idea of having some monster posters printed for the purpose of advertising John Clark Seates of Westbrook as the candidate for Congress. No printing house in Portland, nor in Maine, nor even in all New England was thought capable of handling so stupendous a proposition; hence the committee was forced to scour the country even to the far West to find a printing house which could satisfactorily fill the bill. They discovered one in St. Louis, Mo., and ordered a sample.

If this necessity confronts you, we are prepared to serve you, as a goodly portion of our fall suits have arrived and are ready for your inspection.

Also plenty of "lighter weights" to choose from and at mark-down prices.

Womanhood is the most sacred thing in life. ## TAFT WILL TALK ON REMEDIES FOR TRUST ABUSE

Speech To Virginians To Deal With What Has Been Done By Republican Party Against Trusts

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 20.—The speech which Mr. Taft will make here Friday to the Republicans of Virginia will involve, according to a statement in Mr. Vokes today, a genuine discussion with reference to the part taken by the Republican and Democratic parties in robbing the states of trusts and monopolies, with a reference to the duty of the Southern 16 states to make every effort to increase the Republican vote by appealing from the ranks of independent Democrats. It will point out, said Mr. Vokes, the basis upon which such Democrats must sympathize with the Republican position and Republican success.

James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior, reached here today after a trip through California, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Utah and Colorado. He made a report to Mr. Taft on political conditions as he observed them, which, he said afterward, was a veritable report from a Republican showman.

"The political sentiment as I ascertained it," said Mr. Garfield, "was exceedingly favorable to Mr. Taft. There was but trouble in some of the states I visited, but I was told by both friends in each case that nothing would interfere with the lead of the ticket. Business is good, crops are good, and I never have seen such heavy railroad business in the west. Mr. Garfield said that the train on which he came West was polled at Kansas City, showing 37 votes for Taft and 17 for Bryan.

Mr. Taft has received word of sympathetic advice from a 275-pound citizen of Chicago, who recognized the handling of too many advoates. This Chicagoan is prompted in writing to him, so he says, by an earnest desire for Mr. Taft's election and "that you may have the strength for the hard work which will follow it."

"Prairie meadowlark is what Mr. Taft needs," in his opinion. He tried it and his waist measure shrank five inches. He is 15 pounds lighter.

"Since taking up the study of meditation I have eaten whatever I pleased and have had no other exercise than golf. While I enjoy my food as much or more than before, I can eat no more than half as much. With the almost excessive satisfaction of eating with a small quantity of food. Knowing your weight, I risk the inference and say of you a kindly treatment, more fully will do the trick."

Judge Taft has referred the scientific treatise to one of his secretaries.

Here is one from a school teacher of Freeport, Ill.:

"Do you consider manual training necessary in the public schools?

"Would you advise the use of tests?

"If suitable ones can be obtained, in preference to outlines made by the teacher?"

Judge Taft is now pondering the question.

650 KNOTS IN DAY'S RUN

Lusitania Takes Another Ocean Record

New York, Aug. 20.—The big liner Lusitania is approaching this port with at least one more record to her credit. While off Cape Race at midday Tuesday her captain sent a wireless message to Vernon M. Brown, the Canadian agent, giving her daily run records since leaving Queenstown on the 16th last. Up to noon of Sunday, which was the day of departure, she had travelled at the rate of 22.91 knots per hour, but increasing this average speed to 25.66 she logged the mighty total of 650 knots in the next 24 hours, namely up to noon on Monday of the 17th. There was a slight falling off the next day, the result of the day, namely up to noon yesterday, declining to 631. Previously the best record for a day's run was 613 knots and it was made by this same ship on July 6, last.

FOUND A BARREL OF BOOZE

Detective Sheriff Durkin and County Collector Bobby on Sunday unearthed a bar and a barrel of beer in the woods near the old Lord mansion in South Berwick. The bar was all fastened for business and there was a keg of beer on draught and all of the equipment. Several people were captured in the raid, but the proprietor beat it for the woods and has not been seen since.

FOR AUTOMOBILE MANSLAUGHTER

The trial of Harold Colby of Rochester, N. Y., for causing the death of Fred O'Connor, aged 19, at Bangor, Me., June 3 by running an automobile against him, commenced this week in the supreme court at Bangor.

Harold Colby is not out of his teens and is the son of Louis Colby of Rochester. He claims that he stopped his machine to avoid striking the lad and when he started the boy ran back and collided with the auto, receiving injuries that caused his death at the hospital in a short time.

Since the accident young Colby has been out of jail under bonds.

DAILY FASHION TALKS

BY MAY MANTON

A FASHIONABLE COAT.

LITTLE girls are wearing exceedingly smart and attractive coats this season made from a variety of materials which can be slipped on when the night is cool or if for any reason a wrap is in demand.

This model is exceptionally attractive and really chic while it is exceedingly simple, involving no difficulties in the making, and is adapted to almost all cloaking materials. For the immediate present it is charming either in linen or in pongee or the light weight colored cloths that suit the younger girls so well, but the same model will be found admirable for between-seasons and early autumn, when it can be utilized for the mixtures as well as the plain cloths and cheviots. Indeed, such a coat made from red or blue cloth or from a mixed cheviot will be found an exceedingly valuable addition to the wardrobe. There will be many occasions during the late summer when it will be found comfortable and will be in readiness for the first touch of autumn weather that is sure to find us unprepared. The tucks over the shoulders and the lines of the coat make its special features and the prettily shaped cuffs and the collar allow of effective use of contrasting material. There are plaited bows below the waist line in the back which mean comfortable fittings.

For a girl of ten years of age will require 4 1/2 yards of material 27, 2 1/2 yards 4 or 2 1/2 yards 52 inches wide with 1 1/2 yard 21 inches wide for collar and cuffs. A Clav. Man's pattern No. 6076, sizes 6 to 12 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents. (It is best to send an additional two cent stamp for extra postage which insures more prompt delivery.)

ALLEGED BANDITS ARE CAPTURED

Cambridge, Mass., Police Find Three Men in the Woods

Tracked to a dismantled old box car on a grass-grown side track of the Boston and Maine in the woods at Hill's Crossing, near North Cambridge, a squad of policemen early today captured three men.

Sometime during the early morning hours a man living in the vicinity of Hill's Crossing telephoned the police of Station 4, North Cambridge, that three bandits were lurking in the woods there. The man had seen them, but when they knew they were observed the men retreated to the brush and hid.

Sergeant Orbin White summoned Patrolmen Edward Welsh and Presley and Special Officer O'Dell. The officers were fully armed, and with rounds of ammunition to spare they were hurried to the woods.

They searched far and wide, beating into the thickets thoroughly. At last they came upon the wreck of the old box car standing on one of the unused side tracks at the crossing.

The policemen climbed into it, turning on their pocket searchlights at the same time.

Three men were crouching in corners of the car. The policemen covered the men and took them prisoners without a struggle.

The captives were marched to the patrol wagon and taken to the North Cambridge police station, where they were locked up until they were taken to the district court.

At the station the men gave their names as James Sullivan, thirty-five years of age; William McDowell, thirty-four, and William Coffey, forty-one. They said they had no homes.

The red shirts are in possession of Lowell today.

He went to his aid and succeeded in getting him out, although he was unconscious when rescued. The horse was lost.

Tressey is still very weak but able to be about, but he does not want for such an experience again.

HORSE AND MAN SINK IN MUD

Was Dumping Garbage in Swamp at Hampton Beach and Caught in Mud. Horse Killed, Man Rescued.

S. A. Tressey, proprietor of the Pleasant View House at Hampton Beach had a narrow escape from losing his life in the marsh back of the cottages Tuesday night.

About 11 o'clock he loaded up his team and drove out to the marsh for the purpose of disposing of the garbage on hand. Getting too near the bog there, he was unable to extricate his team which gradually sank into the mud and slime.

His efforts to free the outfit only caused it to sink deeper into the mud until finally he was caught himself. He continued to sink until when help finally came to him the mud had buried him almost completely. His cries for help were heard by Cleo Chaison and with Officers Smith and Lyndon he went to his aid and succeeded in getting him out, although he was unconscious when rescued. The horse was lost.

Tressey is still very weak but able to be about, but he does not want for such an experience again.

THE WEATHER

If the long heated spell had lasted a few weeks more we would have got so warmed up that we wouldn't have known how to cool off without taking a whole month to do the act. As it is, it is the second successive comfortably cool day and the novelty would wear off this kind of weather in a week or two.

It is just the sort of clear air that will make threatening a pleasure tonight and a goodly throng is likely to be in Music Hall this evening.

The sun is clear and bright and the wind is busy with the tree-tops and the Republican campaign flag.

The two o'clock temperature was sixty-eight degrees.

The weather bureau promises the same sort of weather for tomorrow.

VETERAN FIREMEN
GONE TO LOWELLBoth Portsmouth Companies Left on the Same Special Train

A special train with nearly 200 veteran firemen, headed by the drum corps, left the city this morning for Lowell, where the big muster takes place for the members of the New England League.

Both companies from this city are in the race and they expect to bring back some prize money. Whether they do or not, the rivalry between the two crews from Portsmouth has not decreased to any extent and they will have it out today at Lowell.

The train was made up of seven cars, five passenger coaches and two flat cars with the engines, in charge of Conductor Pollard, which made the run via Rockingham Junction and the Western Division. Sixty-four organizations have made entries and the master promises to be the biggest in the history of the league.

SMALL SAIL YACHT
WENT ASHOREBut Nobody Was Drowned This
Noon At Wallis Sands

A small sail yacht went ashore shortly after noon today at the point beyond Ranged Neck, and lay on her beam ends with the surf beating over her.

A girl in the party was thrown out and it was thought by the spectators in shore that she would be drowned, but fears were also entertained for the safety of the others in the craft.

The Wallis Sands life saving crew was summoned and brought the party ashore in good condition. The yacht was righted and found to be uninjured.

It was understood that the party was from the Farragut Home and vicinity.

CHARGED WITH
CHICKEN STEALINGFrank Ames Locked Up At Police Station ... Thought To Be Implicated In Many Jobs

Frank Ames was arrested on Vaughan street last evening by officer Quinn and was locked up charged with larceny of chickens. The police are of the opinion that in the arrest of Ames the many hen coop robberies have been solved, for it is alleged that Ames is implicated in many of them and admits some of the case. There is another man that has been working with Ames and between the two it is thought that many if not all of the break into chicken coops can be traced.

There is evidence that Ames has been selling chickens to several people in this city and these it is said he admits were given to him by the others fellow who did the stealing and he sold them.
